Common Patterns: Customer Assistants, Employee Productivity & Creative Scale

01

Conversational Customer Agents

The most visible entry point across every industry. AI-powered virtual assistants handle queries, reduce wait times, and lower human agent workloads.

Companies: Mercedes-Benz MBUX · GM OnStar · VW myVW · LUXGEN · Commerzbank · Mercari

02

Employee Productivity Agents

The broadest category. Gemini for Workspace powers document summarization, research acceleration, legal review, and data filtering across departments.

Companies: Uber · Rivian · Geotab · Oxa

03

Creative & Scale Agents

The fastest-growing frontier. Gen AI moves from text into multimodal creative production — generating thousands of hyper-personalized assets in hours.

Companies: Virgin Voyages (Veo video ads) · PODS / Tombras (adaptive billboards) · Figma (instant brand assets)

Takeaways: Where to Start and What to Expect from Enterprise Gen AI

1 Gen AI is production-ready across all major industries

All 11 verticals have live deployments. This is no longer experimental — the question is not if, but where to deploy first.

2 Customer & Employee agents are the highest-probability entry points

Conversational assistants and Gemini for Workspace represent the most common and fastest-to-value deployment patterns.

3 Measurable ROI is achievable within months

500% ROI (Mercari), 30% workload reduction (LUXGEN), 10,000+ hours saved (Toyota) — organizations are reporting hard numbers from production.

4 Creative and Code agents are the fastest-growing frontier

Multimodal creation (Virgin Voyages, PODS) and AI-assisted coding (Renault Ampere) signal the next wave of enterprise adoption.

5 Early movers gain compounding advantages

With 400 new use cases added in a single update cycle, the deployment gap between leaders and laggards widens every quarter.
