Common Patterns: Customer Assistants, Employee Productivity, and Creative Scale

Conversational Customer Agents

The most visible entry point. AI-powered virtual assistants handle queries, reduce wait times, and lower human agent workloads across automotive, financial services, and retail.

Examples: Mercedes-Benz, GM OnStar, VW, LUXGEN, Commerzbank, Mercari

Employee Productivity Agents

The broadest category. Gemini for Google Workspace summarizes documents, accelerates research, drafts content, and reviews legal documents across every department.

Examples: Uber, Rivian, Geotab, Oxa

Creative & Scale Agents

The fastest-growing frontier. Gen AI moves from text into multimodal creative production — video, billboards, and brand assets at enterprise scale.

Examples: Virgin Voyages, POPS, Figma

Takeaways: Where to Start and What to Expect from Enterprise Gen AI

- 1 Gen AI is production-ready across all major industries. The 1,001 use cases span governments, Fortune 500s, researchers, and startups — not experiments.
- 2 Customer and Employee agents are the most common entry points. They deliver the fastest path to measurable value with the lowest risk profile.
- 3 Measurable ROI is achievable within months. Mercari anticipates 500% ROI; LUXGEN cut workloads 30%; Toyota saved 10,000+ hours annually.
- 4 Creative and Code agents are emerging fast. Virgin Voyages' hyper-personalized video, PODS' real-time billboards, and Renault's code assist signal the next wave.
- 5 The pace is accelerating. With 400 new entries in the latest update alone, early movers gain compounding advantages as the technology stack matures.
