Note: Provider-level share reflects total market across all models/apps, not just top-10 model tokens.

Shifts in the Market Landscape

1

Chinese Models Break Through

Chinese providers (Xiaomi, Stepfun, DeepSeek, MiniMax, Zhipu) now hold over 54% combined share on OpenRouter — an international platform. Cost-performance advantage is driving adoption.

2

Anthropic Growth Has Stalled

Despite maintaining two models in the top 10 (Sonnet 4.6 & Opus 4.6), Anthropic's week-over-week growth is flat at -0% and +2%. Combined ~2T tokens but momentum is fading.

3

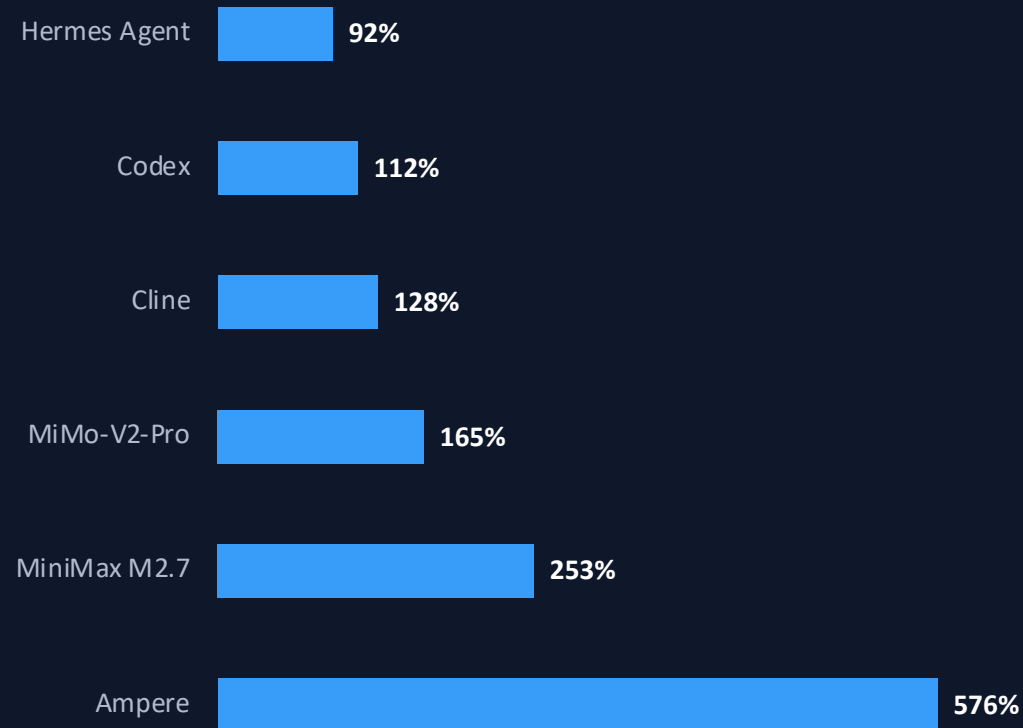

Flash/Turbo > Flagship Models

Step 3.5 Flash, GLM 5 Turbo, Gemini 3 Flash, Grok 4.1 Fast — 'fast and affordable' variants far outpace their flagship counterparts in real-world usage. Users prioritize speed & cost.

Market Growth Trajectory

This Week's Rising Stars: Fastest-Growing Models

Growth Drivers

■ MiniMax M2.7 (+253%)

Strong demand for cost-efficient models with solid multilingual capabilities; capturing users seeking alternatives to higher-priced options.

■ MiMo-V2-Pro (+165%)

Xiaomi's aggressive pricing and integration with its ecosystem drive rapid adoption; leads overall token volume at 3.96T.

■ Cline (+128%)

Autonomous coding agent riding the AI developer tools wave; VS Code integration makes it easily accessible to millions of developers.

Key Insights and Industry Implications

01

Chinese Models Hold Dominant Share

Chinese providers now command over 54% of the global LLM market on OpenRouter. Xiaomi alone accounts for 25.9%. The cost-performance advantage of Chinese models is reshaping competitive dynamics.

02

AI Coding Agents Are #1 Use Case

5 of the top 10 apps are coding tools. AI coding assistants have become the single largest LLM consumption scenario, signaling where the highest commercial value currently lies.

03

Highly Fragmented — No Winner

The top 10 spans 8 different providers. No single provider exceeds 30% market share. Competition remains fierce and the landscape is far from settled — opportunity is still wide open.

04

Fast & Affordable Beats Flagship

Flash/Turbo variants (Step 3.5 Flash, GLM 5 Turbo, Gemini 3 Flash) far outpace flagship models in real-world usage. Users are voting with their feet — speed and cost win over peak capability.
